

Call for Session Presenters

South Carolina Farm Bureau (SCFB) Federation is holding its annual Young Farmers & Ranchers (YF&R) Conference on February 4-6, 2022 at the Charleston Marriott in Charleston, SC. We would love for you to consider being a part of the program!

About SCFB and the YF&R Conference:

South Carolina Farm Bureau is the state's largest grassroots agricultural community whose mission is to promote agricultural interests in the state of South Carolina and optimize the lives of those involved in agriculture while being respectful to the needs and concerns of all citizens of the state.

This conference brings together over 300 young farmers, agriculturalists and agribusiness professionals under the age of 35 from all across South Carolina. It offers a number of breakout sessions and workshops for attendees to further their knowledge and grow in their understanding of topics that are important to them. This is the only event in South Carolina where you will find this many young farmers together in one place at one time!

Call for Presenters:

South Carolina Farm Bureau is seeking proposals from potential YF&R Conference breakout session presenters. Proposals should appeal to at least one of the following audiences:

- Full-time farmers (various crops, livestock & production practices)
- Part-time farmers (various crops, livestock & production practices)
- Aspiring farmers (not yet producing income from a farm, but hopeful to do so)
- Farm employees (various crops, livestock & production practices)
- Farm family member (spouse or son/daughter of farmer)
- Agribusiness/government/non-profit professionals (work with and/or for farmers daily)
- Agriculturalists and students (passion for supporting the Ag industry and farmers)

If you are interested in presenting at the 2022 SCFB YF&R Conference, please complete the online proposal form. The initial call for presenters will be open until Monday, August 1st, 2021. The planning committee will be reviewing the initial set of proposals on August 7th. If you have any questions, please contact Carrie Walker at cwalker@scfb.org or 803-936-4245.
